

INGREDIENT INFORMATION

POPEYES

At Popeyes, we're committed to serving the bold, flavorful food our guests love. We are making changes where appropriate so that our guests can feel good about our food while never compromising on our distinctive taste. We're actively working towards a U.S. menu that removes colors and flavors from artificial sources, eliminates BHA and BHT, and replaces high fructose corn syrup with sugars from natural sources by the end of 2025.*

POPEYES

*Doesn't include promotional or 3rd party items

At Popeyes, we want you to feel good about what you're eating, so we're making it easier for you to find our ingredients. The information is for our U.S. menu and is based on our standard recipes and the latest details from our approved suppliers.

That said, things change from time to time. Depending on where you are, what's in season, or updates from our suppliers, ingredients might vary a bit — and some menu items may not be available at every restaurant. While we do our best to keep this information fresh and accurate, recipes and ingredients do change, and those changes may happen before this list is updated.

Also, please note, our kitchens use shared spaces and equipment, which means your food might come into contact with other ingredients, including common allergens. For full allergen details, see www.popeyes.com.
